THIRD INTER-MEDIATE GAME WON SATURDAY

McGill Takes Hard Fought Game From Westmount.

SCORE WAS 4-3.

Red and White Had Slight Edge On Their Opponents Throughout.

Playing their third game of the season at the Victoria Rink on Saturday afternoon, the McGill Intermediate Hockey team defeated Westmount after a hard struggle by the score of 4 to 3. The teams were fairly evenly matched, and it was not till the final goal was scored that the result of the game was definitely decided.

The game started off at a fairly fast clip, but this pace was not maintained for long, both teams slowing up considerably towards the end. While the play was not rough, several minor penalties were handed out by Referee Jack Marshall, and at one time the Red and White were obliged to play two men short for some minutes.

Neither team exhibited much combination, although, perhaps, McGill had a slight edge on their adversaries in this respect. The Red and White showed that they need a lot more practice in playing together. Several times good opportunities to score were thrown away when attempted passes went wide owing to the McGill forwards not being in their proper position. This, however, is something that can (and will, we hope) be remedied by a little more work. All the members of the Intermediate are good skaters and stick-handlers, and with the use of more combination play should have no difficulty in retaining their position at the head of the league.

For McGill, McLaughlin succeeded in scoring two goals, Peverley and Russell each notching one. Earle Anderson back-checked in splendid style. Fowler on the defence played a good game, his end to end rushes being a feature, and he was instrumental in the counting of the students' first point. The most spectacular play of the game was made by Russell, when just after Westmount had assumed the lead shortly after the opening of the second period, he rushed down the ice and, single-handed, footed the whole opposing team, passed the defence men and shot the puck into the corner of the net. For Westmount, Hardy was the most effective man on the ice, while Norton also made some dangerous rushes.

The first period witnessed the speediest playing of the game. McGill had easily the better part of the first part, scoring two in the first seven minutes, with the West-enders came right back and succeeded in evening up the score.

Westmount opened the game by rushing, but Fowler secured and rushed the length of the ice, then passed the puck to McLaughlin, who notched the first point of the game for McGill. For several minutes the Westmount goal was bombarded from all angles, but Barclay was equal to the occasion. Norton brought the play to the McGill end of the rink, and Timmins was

DANCE TICKETS ON SALE TODAY

Hours Of Sale Will Be From 1.00 to 2.00 and 5.00 to 6.00 P.M.

As was previously announced in the "Daily," the next Students' Council dance will be held in the Union on the evening of January 23rd. This will be of a strictly informal nature, and the place which were followed for the dances which have already been held will again be used.

The tickets will be on sale in the Union from 1.00 to 2.00 and from 5.00 to 6.00 p.m. to-day. For the previous dances a subscription list was opened at nine o'clock in the morning, but it is thought that the later hour for the sale will be more advantageous, as no lectures are scheduled for the hours mentioned.

To obviate the possibility of outsiders obtaining tickets, the porter at the Union has been instructed to ask for the grounds' cards of doubtful applicants. Hence, it is to be borne in mind that all those wishing to purchase tickets should have with them this identification in case of any trouble.

The tickets have been limited to 175 couples, in order that there may be no overcrowding, and so that all present may be able to spend a most enjoyable evening. The first 175 applicants will receive tickets, so that it is very important to apply for reservation at the time indicated above. The tickets for the last Council dance were sold in one hour, and it is expected that there will be as great, if not a greater, demand for those for the dance on the twenty-third.

The custom which has been followed in the past regarding the signing of names will again be adhered to. Each applicant must sign his own name and the name of the partner he intends taking to the affair. This is a rule which has been drawn up by the Committee on Social Functions, and must be enforced in every case.

It has been found necessary to raise the price of tickets from one dollar and a half to two dollars. The cost of an orchestra or jazz band and of catering is so high that at the former price a deficit instead of a surplus quite often existed after all adjustments had been made. As the Students' Council must at least cover expenses, there is no alternative to raising the price.

An armchair, termed the "Emma," which Lady Hamilton presented to Lord Nelson, and which after his death was bought on the Victory by Admiral Sir Francis Naforey, was sold at Newick, Sussex, for £185. A Chipendale mahogany sideboard realised £1,120.

RUGBY PLAYERS.

All Rugby men are requested to enquire immediately whether they have been granted full attendance for work missed on account of Rugby games and practices.

Any failure of above should be reported to Secretary of Students' Council.

K. SAUNDERS DEALS WITH BUDDHISTS

McGill Y.M.C.A. Is Doing a Great Work in Colombo.

POEMS READ.

Christianity a Fulfillment Of Mysticism and Buddhism.

Strathcona Hall was filled yesterday afternoon to hear Mr. Kenneth Saunders give an address on India. Those who were there left at the close with the feeling that they had learned something that was of profit to them—something that was worth while in life. The subject of Buddhism and its relation to Christianity is naturally a difficult one; its many phases and contrasts are of such a complex nature, that only a scholar and able speaker such as Mr. Saunders could present it accurately.

Mr. Saunders spoke very encouragingly about the McGill Y.M.C.A. in Colombo, Ceylon, and particularly of the fine work that Murray Brooks and Gordon Brown were doing there. He solicited the sympathy, prayers and gifts in a larger measure than McGill has offered in past years, to meet the increased need.

Ceylon is the key to India—the laboratory where practical experiments in self-government and various other matters, political and religious, are tried out. Ceylon is of necessity, then, a very important work indeed, for upon the success of these ventures and experiments depends the welfare of a large number of people.

Ceylon, says Mr. Saunders, is the meeting point of four great religions—Mohammedanism, Buddhism, Christianity and Brahminism. Colombo, a great city of 400,000 inhabitants, is almost equally divided among them.

The history of that land is divided into four great chapters. The primeval force that held sway over the people was Animism, the religion of spirits and demons, which were supposed to be omnipresent.

Under the Emperor Asoka a second great regime sprang up, which eventually overthrew the old spirit worship. Buddhism was a civilizing influence and a great boon to the people. It taught them how to build in stone, and the system of irrigation, thereby reaching their minds through the medium of their comfort and bodily welfare. The works of art done under the Buddhist teachings were an example of their influence.

The third was a mingling of all the religions—Hindus, Christians, Mohammedans, Brahmans and many others. The Christian influence of the period was impaired by the fact that the Portuguese tried to force Christianity upon the people instead of leading them to Christ.

The new era is a Christian era, and it seems to be that which the other religions have been looking for without their knowing it, and which is the fulfillment of their creed.

The Y.M.C.A. works not with the idea of leaving their bones as a testimony to their sacrifice, but rather as an influence that will eventually become a

A Great Need

Perhaps greater than ever before in the history of our country is the need for men who think and who, possessed of a sound general education, are able to give expression to their thoughts in such a manner that others may profit by them. We begin in youth to accumulate a great mass of facts and later our training at public school, especially those in rural districts, is unfortunately not of a nature which taxes our powers of reason.

If then we are to acquire this habit of thought it must be at the university. This should be ever before us. Perhaps classics occupy our attention and after a time a grasp of greek and latin is obtained. We gradually learn to appreciate the language but if we are to benefit to the full extent we must go a step further. We must see behind its beauty of phraseology, a civilization which inspired the author to write such lines. Perchance art interests us. A few years of study will enable us to identify the world's greatest masterpieces but unless we have learned to picture what was in the mind of the master when he sat down before his easel we have profited little by our work. We conclude then that education is not a measure of what we actually know about a subject but it implies something more, a process involving vision and reason.

If we as university students are to do things worth while we must not be mere sponges for the reception of facts but we must submit them to the process of reason, secondly correlate them, and last of all employ them as an aid in the conception of new ideas, the result of logical thought. From this view our studies are worth while and the result must be a beneficial one not only to ourselves but to civilization.

Bible Study Groups

This evening the bible study classes will assemble in the Hall for the first time since the holidays. After the usual good-fellowship of a "Y" supper the several groups will take part in an hour's discussion under the most competent leaders obtainable.

The supper itself offers an opportunity to pass a cheery half-hour with old friends and new acquaintances. Few can afford to neglect the open-minded discussions which are to follow.

In a number of courses, especially in Arts, lecturers frequently find an opportunity to test, by direct question, the scriptural knowledge of their classes. An attempt at a reply is rare. The response the average student makes to an intelligent reply should make the most popular comedian on the English stage turn several shades of envy, and would doubtless make the greatest living humorist blush like a quipped freshette. Surely no university student will suggest that he has really passed the kindergarten stage while his general knowledge of the bible ranks something below his conversational greek. Bible Study should be given a place on every student's timetable.

native movement and self-supporting. "The East Indian," says Mr. Saunders, "would much rather that they should leave their shoes instead of their bones in the land." The aim of the Y.M.C.A. is to train the younger generation to carry on the work in Ceylon. How important the work is considered by the people themselves is well exemplified by the fact that of five members-to-be chosen for the Civil Service, all five were chosen from native Y.M.C.A. workers.

Kenneth Saunders then gave a description of Buddhism, its teaching, its monks, the character of Gotama Buddha himself, and the reason for its being in such a flourishing condition to-day.

There are 8,000 highly-trained monks in Ceylon. One-third of the island is Karma, or the belief of reincarnation.

church territory, covered with picturesque pagodas, and everywhere seen the yellow robes, the special dress of the Buddhist priest. They are spending missionaries to Germany and other countries, including the United States, England and probably Canada in course of time. In Germany alone there are, it is estimated, a quarter of a million Buddhists. It is appalling to the Christian world to think that they are open to a religious invasion, but this is exactly what is happening. The old religions are taking the offensive and reforming their doctrine to meet present needs.

Gotama Buddha was merely a beggar in outside appearance, but possessed of an extraordinary personality, with that calmness, gentleness, humility and self-control that is so dear to the Oriental heart. It is partially in this personality that still lives that the religion flourishes as it does.

Mr. Saunders then gave some of the important points of the doctrine of Karma, or the belief of reincarnation.

Lieut. C. Dreher, Agr. '12, Passed Away; Dr. Malloch, Med. '13, Wins Fellowship; Hon. Chas. Doherty, Law '76, An Imperial Privy Councillor; Dr. W. A. Molson Dead.

Dr. John L. Todd, Arts '98, Med. Dr. Levy was officer in charge of the Ophthalmic department of the Western command, with headquarters near Chester, during the war.

J. E. P. Peters, who died in St. John's, Newfoundland, on December

He told an amusing tale of an old Burmese lady who was very tenderly feeding and caressing a calf. He asked her the reason of her fondness for the calf, and she replied that she was sure it was a reincarnation of her dead husband, the voice was so similar.

The belief is that if you suffer it is your own fault. If you have sinned in a previous life, punishment may come in this. Emphasis is placed on the individual rather than on inter-related responsibilities. The sins of the father being visited upon the children, is an idea utterly strange to their doctrine. Nellie Besant was speaking with a Brahmin priest, and said to him, "You know I feel as if I had been a Brahmin in a previous existence—I feel so much in sympathy with them." The priest peered at her over his spectacles, and, shaking his head, said—"You must have sinned grievously to be born a woman, and an Englishwoman."

India has been united twice—by Osaka, a Buddhist Emperor; a Mahomedan Emperor—and may the present be the third time, when India will be united in the Christian religion under a Christian Emperor.

Buddhism has done much for India, and it is hard for them to give it up. To become a Christian seems a lack of patriotism to the Chinese and the Burmese. It is through works that the Christian religion will come into its own, and the benefits that have been derived under the British Government will stand as a living example of Christianity.

The engagement is announced of Miss Hazel Jean Allan, of Montreal, and Stanley A. Nelson, Sci. '16, son of Mrs. Matthew Nelson, Westmount, the marriage to take place late in January.

The weak points of the Buddhist religion were the lack of a proper conception of the true God, a place of meeting after death and of social services and the Golden Rule. Kenneth Saunders represented the average Buddhist as yearning for a god whom they can worship, and hungry for a place where they can join their dear ones and those from whom they have possibly parted for the last time in anger.

The Christian teaching does not tend to destroy their fundamental doctrine, but merely to fulfil it, and in its fulfillment to make a sounder nation with a broader vision of its responsibilities toward its fellows.

The meeting closed with a discussion of any points that were not clear to any of the audience, and many asked questions that were very ably answered by Mr. Saunders. He rendered a few verses from Indian writers, which were admirable as a means of giving the Indian viewpoint. These were from a collection of poems by Lagere and of the Mahabharata.

Two young princes of the House of Bourbon, Parma, whose brothers fought on the side of the Allies in the war, are on a visit to Quarr Abbey, Isle of Wight, the home of the Benedictine monks. They are brothers of the ex-Empress Zita of Austria, and brothers-in-law of the Duchess of Luxembourg.

SMALLER NUMBER AT SUNDAY SING

Attendance Small Owing To Student Church Reception.

The usual attendance at the Sunday night "Sing" at the Hall yesterday evening was not nearly as large as usual. This decrease in the accustomed number of songsters and songstresses was probably chiefly owing to the students' service and reception which was being held at the same time at the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul. The members of the fair sex were more especially conspicuous for their absence—a fact which was greatly lamented by those who attend for other motives than voice culture.

The organizers of the "Sings" have adopted an innovation of distinct value for the promoting of that "make-yourself-at-home feeling." This is the arrangement of the chairs in small circles, tending as it does to split the meeting up into groups. After singing a number of old-time popular hymns, and partaking of the usual refreshments, the meeting broke up.

TOWN MOVED TO GET ORE. Minneapolis, Minn.—Hibbing is moving again.

Iron ore, lying under the village, has made it advisable to move the entire village, mining officials declared yesterday in St. Paul.

The Great Northern Railroad obtained permission from the State Railroad and Warehouse Commission to move its trackage and station to the village in Alice, the destination of Hibbing.

HOCKEY GAME AT MACDONALD KEEN CONTEST

Juniors and Freshmen Defeated the Seniors and Sophomores on Saturday.

SCORE 5 TO 1.

Frequent Change Of Players
Gave Chance To Have Workout.

The hockey game on Saturday afternoon between the Freshmen and Juniors vs. the Sophomores and Seniors proved to be a thrilling contest. When the play commenced there were few spectators, but as the game progressed the applause attracted all within hearing. Weather was ideal and with a good sheet of ice the players got away with a good start at 2 p.m.

Even play characterized the first quarter. The Juniors did their scoring by end to end rushes, when Laurie and Cooper each landed one in the net. This made the Seniors more determined, and Winter scored from a pass by Bruce Ness. In the second period the Juniors scored two—right at the start. But for the sensational work of Richardson in goal the Seniors would have more than evened up the score. In the third and last period the Seniors team was strengthened by Pawtress coming on for the first time, replacing Jack Buckland, who had been playing all the game. Stewart Buchanan spotted one of his last year's attractions and quickly tipped off the manager to be replaced in order that he might play a different game.

Players were changed frequently throughout the game to give all a chance, and also relieve those who felt the strain of playing after such a leisureable fortnight of holidays. It was quite evident that considerable practice is needed under able management—if such is procurable—to produce a good college hockey team. There is abundant material. The players are good stick handlers. Good training will produce the desired results. We ought to see some good games here this winter. One regrettable feature was the absence of proportional representation from the freshmen class, and it is hoped, more of their members will turn out at the next practice.

PROGRAM OF LIT. CONCERT

Many Vocal and Musical
Selections By Apollo Glee Club.

The concert to-morrow evening at Macdonald promises to be one of the real attractions of the season. It is of credit to the "Lit" in bringing out such a fine musical party as the Apollo Glee Club and Merlin Davies. As stated before expenses for this concert will be met by a silver collection, and it is hoped that the student body will be fairly generous.

The evening's programme is as follows:

Y.M.C.A. MEETING.

The main feature of the Y.M.C.A. meeting held yesterday morning in the Men's Residence was a brief address given by Mr. J. D. Sutherland, one of the delegates sent by the men students to the Des Moines Conference. He spoke very briefly on the programme which was followed by the delegates at Des Moines, dwelling upon the trip from Canada and upon the large number of nations represented. He also gave extracts from speeches given by the most prominent Y.M.C.A. workers of the present day, and dwelt particularly upon that phase of missionary work in foreign countries which we, as Agricultural students, are most interested in: pointing out that in India particularly the most effective missionary work is accomplished through the improvement of agricultural and economic conditions. Mr. Sutherland dwelt only very briefly upon his trip to Des Moines, as a massed meeting of the entire student body is to be held in the Assembly Hall next Sunday, at which meeting all the delegates sent from Macdonald will speak.

vited, along with a number from the hospital. An excellent programme of dances was enjoyed, with Miss Oliver at the piano, and the gathering reluctantly broke up at an early hour Saturday morning.

called on to stop several shots. Peverley came on for Russell, and by some good stick-handling managed to make the score 2-0 for the Red and White. Shortly after this, Hardy rushed and notched Westmount's first point.

At this point, two McGill men were penalized, hence they only had four men on the ice. By good defensive play the Red and White prevented their opponents from scoring. After several minutes of hard play, Norton rushed and passed to Hardy, who beat out Timmins with a hard shot, thus making the score 2-2. During the remainder of the play, neither team succeeded in counting any more points. The puck went from end to end several times, and McGill missed some good chances to score by poor shooting and poor combination work.

Two minutes after the beginning of the second period, Hardy slammed the puck past Timmins, putting Westmount in the lead, the score being 3-2. Shortly afterwards, however, Russell, secured the puck and rushed the whole length of the ice, and, passing the whole Westmount team, evaded the score once again. One minute after this, from a face-off near the Westmount goal, McLaughlin knocked the puck into the net, putting McGill in the lead to the tune of 4-3. From this point, the play began to slacken considerably. Both teams came close to scoring on several occasions. At one time Westmount was pressing hard, but in spite of their desperate efforts the final gong rang with McGill the winners, 4-3.

By winning their game Saturday with Westmount, McGill Intermediate now stand undisputed at the head of the League. They have won all their games so far this season, having three victories and no losses to their credit. In the other games played on Saturday, Griffintown vs. First Presbyterians, and Shamrocks vs. All Montreal, both resulted in ties, the score being 2-2 in each case. M.A.A.A. defeated Nationals to the tune of 10 to 2, thereby tying with Westmount for second place. O. C. Trillior and Jack Marshall were the referees.

Alterations are under way in New York City which will restore the "Minettas," the inclusive name for Minetta Street, Minetta Lane, Minetta Place, and Minetta Court, to their old-time respectability. The name, altered by later English habit of speech, is said to come from the Dutch, who called the brook that once flowed through that part of town the Minette or "little one"; but street, lane, place, and court had fallen so sadly into decay that the Minettas, close to "Greenwich Village" and convenient for New York residence, made a kind of desert of deteriorated houses where even the "For Sale" sign in a window had assumed a look of discouragement. But New York needs more homes; and a while ago a man passed that way who saw the chance to provide some. "These little old Colonial houses," as he said later in an interview, "had attractive dormer windows with fine old Colonial doors. They were houses of comfort, used by our forefathers. I couldn't pass by without taking special interest." The result has been a considerable change of ownership, the new owners immediately setting to work on plans to redeem the "quaint little houses."

TOP FORM BY TEAMS SHOWN AT PRACTICE

Basketballers Are Beginning
To Show Combination
Play.

SHOOTING BETTER.

Much Room For Improvement
However In Trick
Playing and in Grasping Openings.

At two o'clock on Saturday the Intercollegiate and Senior, No. 1, teams turned out to practice, and for an hour and a half every player got in some passing and shooting practice and team play. Smith, Forbes and Hyndman were missing, and their absence seriously handicapped the progress of their teams. Following a short passing practice, the teams lined up for competition as follows:

Intercollegiate	Senior
Hay.....Forward.....Pois
Little.....Forward.....Lashley
Perrault.....Centre.....Bourke
Kern.....Defence.....McNeil
Montgomery.....Defence.....Young

Both teams showed fair physical condition and should soon be going in top form. The Intercollegiate team is beginning to show combination play, and with further concentration in their team work and through becoming used to each other's style of play, they should give a good account of themselves. There is, however, much room for improvement in their elusive, tricky playing and also in their ability to see offensive openings. The senior team, which will be up against the pick of the city basketballers, should make a good showing. In Bourke they have a good jumper and a good shot. Lashley is showing his usually good amount of speed. These two players should have no difficulty in making the Intercollegiate series at least next season, if not the present one. Both, however, are inclined to play selfishly and to commit fouls by taking more than one step with the ball. Roy Foss is improving at each practice, and McNeil will no doubt make a name for himself this season. Carl Forbes was, unfortunately, absent, and for this reason the Senior team was not given their signals. At six o'clock the two Intermediate teams were lined up for practice. Shooting and passing practice was used, and thus a short game was indulged in, the teams being as follows:

No. 1.	No. 2.
M. Kern.....Defence.....Martin
M. Levitt.....Defence.....Voith
D. Foss.....Centre.....P. Cuttle
Ed. Clarke.....Forward.....Murray
McLean.....Forward.....Amaron
Parlow.....Forward.....Ashman
.....Forward.....Root
.....Forward.....Schwartzman

The No. 1 team may be entered in the Senior section of the City League. The No. 2 team is still in the making. Martin, Cuttle, Murray and Amaron are sure of places, whilst Parlow, Ashman and Voith will be carried and given an opportunity of making the team. W. James was not out but is expected at the next practice, and he should catch one of the forward positions. Marsh, Kern and Amaron were elected captains of their respective teams.

The Junior team will be made up of seven players from the following:
Defence—Schwartzman, McCaffrey and Crankshaw. Centre—E. Root and Les. Gnaedingar. Forwards—Turpil, Mendelsohn and Read.

R. V. C. NOTES

SKATING PARTY.

To-night at 8 o'clock the first skating party of the season will be held. All will meet at the Hall at 8 o'clock sharp.

Good ice, music, refreshments.

R. V. C. FANCY SKATING.

Fancy skating at R. V. C. will be postponed until after the January examinations.

R. V. C. HOCKEY.

At the R. V. C. hockey practice held Saturday morning at 9 a.m., there was a very good turnout of about fourteen girls. R. V. C. is very fortunate this year in having Rowland Kennedy as their hockey coach. This was well proved at the first hockey practice on Saturday morning. As the majority of the girls were new at the game, Mr. Kennedy explained very carefully the different passes, and demonstrated just how to hit the puck when near the goal. After an hour and a half of good practising the girls left, only too anxious to play in the next practice.

This second practice will be held Wednesday at 4 p.m.

PARTIALS.

There will be an important meeting of the Partial Society Tuesday morning at ten o'clock in the Common Room.

To the Editor, McGill "Daily."

Dear Sir:—

As another English-Canadian I hope I may be permitted to write a few words about that most interesting letter which appeared in to-day's "Daily," regarding a very popular article in a previous edition, which dealt with the life and habits of a reputed McGill undergraduate, the Honorable Algernon Percival Fyfe-Smith, I believe. It was certainly a most amusing and well written article, in fact I should like to compliment Mr. Genest on his exquisite imagination, of which, I am told, it is very necessary for all newspaper reporters to be possessed. Englishmen write similar articles about Americans, and I must confess that these are quite amusing too. Your correspondent seems greatly concerned over "pink pajamas" and "polka dots." I fear I have never had the felicity of seeing any such as these, though I once lived with a delightful American, who had notably, three pairs of crepe de chine pajamas, colored respectively, bright scarlet, bright orange, and bright purple. Here again I must confess that I used to derive considerable amusement from this little eccentricity of his.

I was so glad that Miss English-Canadian (if that be her name) made these splendid remarks about our English noblemen during the war. They proved themselves as a body to be true British gentlemen, and as such I am sure they will not feel in the least insulted by an amusing little article in the McGill "Daily" written as a slight exaggeration upon a few of their number who are unfortunately inclined a little this way, as indeed are we all in some what less degree. English-Canadian appears to assume that the writer takes Algernon as typical of the English nobility, this is just as ridiculous as assuming him to be typical of the McGill undergraduate body of which he is also reported to be a member. Like the gentleman, the candle, and the bushel of the parable, many an Englishman hides his wisdom under a bushel of foppery, I do not wish this to be a matter of discussion, it is amusing, perhaps interesting, and leads nowhere.

I am quite sure English-Canadian meant very well, and most of what she said was undoubtedly true; but was she quite playing the game in so seriously attacking an article which had no serious intentions, and perhaps not accepting quite enough blame for our own race, which in all fairness should take a little at this time. I hope Mr. Genest will display some more of his undoubted talent for the amusement of the many diligent readers of the "Daily," and should be by any chance find anyone who really feels insulted by his last effort. I have no doubt there are vast fields in journalism in which he can excel himself just as well.

I remain, Mr. Editor,
AN ENGLISHMAN
(With a touch of Canadian humor).

Jan. 10th, 1920.

To the Editor, McGill "Daily."

Dear Sir:—

Verily, it is to laugh, if not to burst forth into loud guffaws! After a painstaking perusal of English-Canadian's letter in Saturday's "Daily," I fall to see what inspired it. As the Honorable Mr. Fyfe-Smith himself would remark—"I fancy the little lady has a bit of a lift on what!" Indeed, it would not at all surprise me if at this very moment, the Honorable Algy were chuckling over the letter referred to, while he guzzles the odd one.

Apparently the "Daily's" fair correspondent is laboring under the impression that the writer's purpose in interviewing Mr. Fyfe-Smith, was to lampoon in an indirect way, not only the distinguished student himself, but Englishmen in general. Perish the thought! Who will attempt to deny that the softly modulated voice and the broad "A" of the average Englishman is far more pleasant to the ear than our own Canadian accent. As for the Oxonian's rather breezy expressions, I hardly need apologize for reporting them as they only serve to lend color to his extremely interesting personality.

It is a matter for much regret that English-Canadian has seen fit to bring up the question of enlistment, especially as it has nothing to do with the point at issue. The public has been surfeited with acrimonious discussions in this connection and it is high time that such discussions should be relegated to the limbo of forgotten things. It seems to me that English-Canadian's ideas are slightly out of proportion in this regard. Everyone knows what England did towards winning the war, although E.C. doesn't appear to think so, as evidenced by her information that the "Knuts" were the first to garb themselves in khaki. If the

Study Of Social Aspect Of Christian Teaching Will Start Soon.

To-night at the usual hour the Bible Study classes re-open with the supper at 6 o'clock and discussion from 6.30 to 7.30, and it is hoped that this session the classes will be even more stimulating to thought and ideas than in the past.

Those men who have made any real serious attempt to answer the questions in Sharman's Book will be assured that only by such independent attention to the problems can they ever reach a really sound conception of the life and teachings of Jesus. It is through such individual efforts, requiring intelligence and lack of bias that these studies will become significant with meaning as the months pass on.

It will be important for the members of the classes this year to realize that as the study of Sharman's Jesus in the Records entails the greater part of two college years, it will be necessary to build their classes into solid groups of serious men with staying power.

For those who have not yet been attracted to these discussion groups, we will list the classes as follows:

Group I.—Leader, Prof. Ritchie. Study—H. B. Sharman's Jesus in the Record.

Group II.—Leader, Prof. Graham. Study—H. B. Sharman's Jesus in the Record.

Group III.—Leader, Mr. J. G. McKay. Study—H. B. Sharman's Jesus in the Records.

Group IV.—Leader, Mr. A. H. McLean. Study—H. B. Sharman's Jesus in the Records.

Group V.—Leader, Prof. Riley. Study—The Manhood of the Master—(Fosdick).

For those who, would be interested in the social aspect of the teachings of Jesus, a group is being organized under Mr. John Bradford, of the Y. M.C.A., which will take up "The Social Principles of Jesus," by Pauschenbusch.

Now is the time to join these classes before it is too late. Don't delay any longer but join us to-night at the Bean Supper or in the discussions after.

BRINGS PERUVIAN MUSIC.

Carlos Valderrama, a specialist in music of the Incas and a pianist from Peru, has arranged sixty-eight South American tunes for piano, and is in New York to familiarize North America with the native airs of its Southern neighbor. He spent two years in the wilds of Peru studying the native music. The Incas' somewhat resemble those in use among the Indian tribes of North America.

The Incas have their own instruments, made principally of hollow wood and cane. It is the custom to sing a hymn to the sun every morning in some tribes, and there are many complicated dances. Inca rhythms, like those of the East, are complicated.

Mr. Valderrama has written an opera on Inca themes, and hopes to produce it with an all Indian cast from the mountains of Peru.

Development at the Alfreton pit, in Derbyshire, of the Blackwell Colliery Company, has revealed a seam of low main coal, 82 yards below the present workings. The coal, which is of good quality, is 4 ft. 6 in. thick, and additional 500 workmen will be employed on the new seam.

said E.C. is at all interested, I might say that I have it on good authority that one or two simon pure Canadians also pointed the colors in August 1914. However, this is all negligible, but in justice to the Honorable Mr. Fyfe-Smith, I should mention that during the course of the interview above referred to, I made several abortive attempts to draw the Britisher out on the subject of his war experiences, and I am sure that his reticence was due to that innate modesty characteristic of the soldiering Englishman who has done his bit and done it well.

For some reason or other, English-Canadian has taken a violent dislike to our brethren across the border. Would it be discourteous to suggest that in disparaging the Americans, to say nothing of McGill students in general, she is holsting herself with her own petard.

In conclusion, I might say, in all fairness to the "Daily," that although in former years, I had the honor of being a member of its staff, I am not now connected with it in an editorial capacity, being merely a humble outside contributor to its columns. In view of this fact, any libel action committal with my first interview with Notables at McGill will be defended by me personally.
